restimony for the Defense-Interesting Evidence of the Pioneer Miners-Early Mining Customs.

The Gold Run case opened at 9:30 A. M. yesterday. Hon. Jackson Temple presiding. Direct examination of Stephen Beers (to Mr. Byrne)-I have worked in the Indiana Hill mine during the pest two years. I have seen very large bowlders in that mine-those that had to be blasted. I first began working in the Gold Run District in 1853. I have been engaged in mining there ever since; have been engaged in no other occupation. Of the material in the bottom of the Indiana pit very little, if any, would be carried away in suspension. I have played on the bank with a heavy pressure for three days, and bank. It cannot be worked without the use

I could recognize any of the old high-water marks. [Witness enumerated several places] where he located the old high-water marks and estimated the depth of the filling of the channel.] From Warner's bridge up, the tailings decrease in depth. At Pickering's Bar I think the fill is about fifteen feet deep. The average amount of filling in this section of the river, in my judgment, is about thirty-five feet in depth. This estimating of the filling of the river's channel I think is all guess work. It would be impossible in my

It was right opposite the town of Mormon Island, near the north bank of the South Fork of the American river. Below this bar the bank was steep and abrupt on the north side. This bar was from 30 to 40 feet deep. The bar was about 200 feet wide and perhaps cents to $3 50.

In the south side of the river was used as a large variety in SATIN, FEATHER-TIPPED, HAND-PAINTED etc. from 18 to 20 feet of sand to cents to $5.

All six claims were running then. I then the water in the river was run through this used about 300 inches; only a small in another place. This sand deposit was about 20 feet deep. [Witness described some other sand bars that were located a short distance below the bridge at Mormon Island, where he says that in 1850 the miners would strip off from 18 to 20 feet of sand to get at about two feet of gravel that lay on the bed-rock. Cross-examination (by Mr. Cadwalader)—
The miners worked out those bars with craDutch Flat.

Joseph Price sworn. Direct examination (to Mr. Byrne)—I came to California in 1853, and have been engaged principally in mining ever since. The first mining I did was on the Yuba river, above Downieville, in 1853 After leaving the Yuba viver I came to the American river. I mined at Pilot Hill, El Dorado county. In the summer of 1854 I worked on Organ Bar, on the American river worked on Organ Bar, on the American river revised on Organ Ray, on the American river revised revised on Organ Ray, on the American river revised rev worked on Oregon Bar, on the American liver, and the following winter I worked in the dry diggings in El Dorado county, and in the summer of 1855 I also worked on the diameter. the summer of 1856 or a portion of the summer of 1856, or a portio Placer, Calaveras and El Dorado counties, at Gold Run since 1865.

The custom and practice in every mining Mr. Byrne wished to show by this witness

LADIES' LEATHER SATCHELS and PURSES, in all the latest shapes and sizes.

The custom and practice in every mining locality was to dispose of the material from the most convenient and available place. These places were found in ravines and canyons. There is no ether way to work these mines. This has been the general work these mines. This has been the general practice ever since. I have been acquainted with mining. This has always been the custom in the Gold Run District. My first acquaintance with the Gold Run mine was in 1873. At that time all the surface of that district was washed off down to the blue 1873. I worked in the Church laim from that for thirty years the miners had been enjoying this property, with the right to dump as they do.

Objected to by Mr. Cadwalader. He argued that there was no statute of limitations in regard to a public nuisance.

Witness—I knew there were mines running at Gold Run in 1854. I have lived at Gold Run in 1854. The surface of those mines was all exhausted about lair or whatever you call it. Judge Porter must have not got brains enough."

In answer to Mr. Byrne he testified : In the Gold Run mine there is about 60 feet from bed-rock of very hard material. There is from 15 to 25 feet of this material like sample No. 1. The other is the blue gravel, or rather rock, but not as coarse rock as this 60 feet is below. I have estimated the time that it would take to wash the material there at the rate they have been going. It would take about 35 years.

this witness that every man who took up a mining claim in early days took it subject to the right of others above him to discharge their tailings into the ravine which he was working; that it was the custom all over the State, and particularly in this district. If a man owned a claim on the river he was bound to accept of the tailings that came down from It was not a matter of consent with him. It was such a matter of general custom as made law, and always makes law, that he could not deny the right of the superior proprietor, or the person owning the claim above, to deposit his tailings in that particular ravine. If it was an inconvenience to him, it was his misfortune. This right of miners to dump in the nearest ravine never was disputed until lately.

The Court overruled the objection, and counsel for prosecution excepts.

Witness—I would most certainly have a right to dump into the ravine and run the tailings down on him. I have dumped tailings on other miners below. [Witness here described under recross-examination places where one mine dumped on another.]

John S. Celgrove being called, and sworn on behalf of the defendant, in response to questions by Mr. Byrne, testified: Came to California in 1850; did my first mining at Coloma, on the South Fork, in 1850; went made comparatively no impression on the to Georgetown about a month later; mined on Canyon creek and the ravine south of Georgetown; that was in the fall of 1850; that is not the same Canyon creek that empties into the North Fork. eral)—After the material was blasted it washed pretty readily, and muddied the water considerably. The depth of the original washings at Indiana Hill, in my judgment, is about 75 feet. I have been from the ment, is about 75 feet. I have been from the ment, is about 75 feet. I have been from the ment, is about 75 feet. I have been from the ment, is about 75 feet. I have been from the ment, is about 75 feet. I have been from the ment to Placerville, but went back to the ment of the m Pilot Hill in the winter and stayed there dur-ing the winter. Then went to Salmon Falls, Hill, and mined there from 1855 to 1858. Then went to Dutch Flat and remained there since. There was not mach hydraulic mining done at Iowa Hill until 1855. They com-menced, I think, in 1854. Have mined in El Dorado and Placer counties. Since 1850 I have lived about two years outside of a mining county. I know the customs and rules and regulations which have prevailed as to the location and tenure of mines. I have al-ways understood it to be the custom of miners to make use of any ravine, gulch, or river, or anything where they can dispose of their material in mining. I know it to be a universal custom among miners. They always had a right to dump into the nearest ravine or river. It has always been a universal custom among miners to dump where they pleased. There is no other practical way of operating the hydraulic mines of the State except by the use of water and dumping in this way, that I know of. I have had an experience of twenty years in mining. My knowledge of the Gold Run district is very limited. Superintended a claim in that district for about three months in 1861-2. I hink that was about the commencement of hydraulic mining down there. But very little had been done before. Probably

The Trial of Guiteau. WASHINGTON, December 21st.—In the Guiteau trial to-day, Dr. Hamilton, of New York, took the stand. Scoville desired to have the other experts excluded during the testimony, but the Court ruled against him. During the argument Davidge was inter-rupted by Guiteau, who said: "I will out this short, Judge, by saying that I am per-fectly willing to have them here. I want them to learn all they can. I have so much confidence in their honor and integrity Davidge-That's precisely what I am coming to.

Guiteau—You are on the right track, Judge. I'll take you on my side. You are engaged for my side of this case.

The witness was questioned at great length relative to the operations of the mind, the significance of dreams and unconscious expressions as indicative of mental processes. The counsel for the prosecution protested against the apparently objective direction of the inquiries.

Scoville (smiling)—Well, gentlemen, I told you that I did not know much about this sub-day, thinging that some people would be in-terested to see it. He took a bust of Andrew Jackson, and he thinks mine greater than Jackson's was. He found one side of my

The rocks on the bottom are sometimes from twelve to fifteen feet long and from six to eight feet thick. They are mostly slate, and have to be blasted and sledged up to a size that can be washed through the tunnel. The depth of material will average 120 feet and the width of the channel about 200 feet. I have been engaged there in the capacity of blacksmith and machinist, and for a short time have been foremar. I have helped clean up that tunnel a great many times. There remains to be washed out of that mine about 18,000, a grade of fourteen inches. All the material

Witness had changed his opinion as to the insanity of the prisoner, because he no longer believed to be true the statement upon which he had based his opinion before going to Washington.

him? Let him go.

Several times afterwards, during the companion of Dr. Worcester, Guiexamination of Dr. Worcester, Guiteau denounced Scoville, at one time in evident anger and again with a sarcastic smile. "Why, your Honor," he shouted, "If I was indicted for manslaughter, I would be hung for murder, if Scoville should defend me."

Mrs. Scoville reached over to speak to Guiteau, when he snarled at her, "You keep your mouth shut. You're as big a fool as your husband. You're a crank on this business. If you had all stayed in Chicago it would have been far better for my case. These relations are a nuisance. I would be better off if I didn't have any. I would have plenty of friends if this pack of relatives were out of the way."

Mrs. Scoville whispered some expostulatory reply, when he turned again angrily and shouted, "You have been an unmitigated uisance in this case all the way through. Then changing quickly from anger to mirth, he added, with a laugh, "You're a queer lot, Adjourned.

The announcement of the survival of Lieutenant De Long, however, must not be regarded as indicating positively that even the portion of the crew which has reached land is now free from all danger. It must be realized that these men have undergone the most terrible hardships since leaving the ship, and in the statement that De Long and his companions were all suffering from frost-bitten limbs there is grave reason for apprehension that some of them may yet sink under their sufferings. The experience of the crew of the Jeannette after abandoning the vessel must have been frightful, and whatever provisions and other supplies they may have been enabled to take with hem were doubtless consumed long before the termination of their three months' struggle with the inclement Arctic weather. and thus the State will be benefited The Jeannette was crushed in the ice last June, either on the 12th or the 23d (for both dates are given in the dispatches). This date indicates that the vessel was destroyed when the ice broke up after the winter, and the presumption therefore is that she never succeeded in getting away from her winter quarters. It is stated by old whalers that the ice on this side of the polar regions is much thicker and more dangerous than on the other, and Captain Hooper, of the Corwin, told the Pacific Coast Geographical Society recently that if he was ordered to take his ship in where the Jeannette went, he should never expect to bring her out again. Indeed it appears that Lieutenant De Long himself fully expected to have to abandon his ship and come out with boats or sledges. Had the vessel been crushed before the breaking up of the ice, or at the beginning of winter, it is probable that the crew would have had much less difficulty in making land, for they could then have used sledges nearly or quite the entire distance. The loss of the ship at the beginning of the short open season, however, ompelled them to rely upon the boats, and with them they must have had to make their way through broken ice and water so

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock a wedding took place at the residence of Edward Lyon, the bride's father, on Ninth street, between G and H. The contracting parties were W. F. Gerber, County Auditor, a young gentleman well known and highly give it the command of the transportation question so far as that staple is concerned. It is announced that the running time from San Francisco to New Orleans will be nine days; the steamer time from New Orleans to European ports, from sixteen to twenty days; and the sailing time forty-five days. Thus wheat can be carried by steam all the way in about thirty-three days, and by steam and sail in about sixty—as against one hundred and fifty by the ocean route. The Southern Pacific Company are determined to put the freight rates at such figures as will give them the business, and when the very great advantages in time are considered it is apparent that they have the solution of the problem in their own hands. The company and so intend to put immigrant rates on the Southern route so low that the cars will be filled with intending settlers on their return journeys from New Orleans, and thus the State will be benefited doubly. The importance of the opening and thus the State will be benefited doubly. The importance of the opening of this new route to the farmers cannot be overestimated. It marks the inauguration of a competition which will secure to them the profits of their industry, and free them from the burden of the middleman. It marks the termination of all corners in shipping, moreover, and of all attempts to monopolize any of the agencies by which the movement of the crops is effected. So far as the wheat growers are concerned, this line is infinitely more important than was the first Pacific Railroad, and when its arrangements are completed, and it is prepared to handle as much of the crop as may demand transportation, the farmers will realize that for the first time they have been put in direct communication with the markets of the world, and that for the first time they have been delivered out of leading-strings.

W. R. S. Foye—Raising and remodeling plied to the assembly present, but to those who might come under their care, the duties of the school-room. Another crying evil was the fact that so many teachers allowed their pupils to assume stooping and other unhealthy positions during the great necessity of a supply of pure air. He spoke of the need of healthy action of the perspiratory glands and the necessity of care in the promotion of their action. Then passing to the growing evil of the use of obacco in its various forms upon the rising generation, he pointed to the decay of nations in the past from its abuse. He also touched upon the vils of tight-lacing, not applied to the assembly present, but to those who might come under their care, was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings, consisting of Supervisors Christy, Wilson and Dreman, to which committee Supervisors Butler and Blair are added. Supervisor Blair was appointed as Chairman of the Finance Committee. J. H. Sturgis was elected a Justice of the Peace, vice Benson, who has left the State. The application of Mary Brown for assistance was referred to Supervisor Butler, with power to act. The application of Margaret Harrington for damages occasioned by the drainage canal ditch running across her land, was denied. Claims of S. W. Butler for $3; P. Sangerole, $5; A. Henley, $216 84, and W. Fearn, $41 25, were to-day at 10 o'clock A. M.

SAN FRANCISCO MONEY MARKET -The de mand for money for general business pur oses is fair at steady rates. There is but ittle mortgage paper offering. There is a audable desire to avoid borrowing until after the turn of the year and c'ose up accounts with cash balances as far as possible. A good deal of coin is being withdrawn for taxes this week, as there are only five days left in which to pay them and escape the penalty of delin-quents. The savings banks are loaning money on city real estate at 7@9 per cent, and assume the taxes. The rate of discount for the ordinary commercial paper is from 7 to 9 per cent. for 30 and 60 day notes with acceptable names; call leans, 5@7 per cent. Drafts on New York are selling at 25c premium on $100; telegrams on do, 35c per $100; London exchange, 49§1 for bank bills, and 50‡d for commercial; refined silver, 12@13½ per cent. discount: Mexican dollars, 91@92c apiece, nominal.—[Bulletin, December 20th.]
